Khalifa port has achieved a record-breaking safety performance

Abu Dhabi Terminals, manager and operator of Khalifa Port Container Terminal (KPCT), celebrated a new record in health and safety by completing four million man-hours without LTI (lost time injury). This is equivalent to 603 days since the last LTI.

The four million man-hour achievement is rare across the industry and reflects ADT's commitment to maintaining an accident free work environment by setting a stringent HSE policy, and carrying out regular audits and safety briefings.

Neil Watson, chief operating officer, ADT said: “We do not compromise on safety; as a world class global container terminal, safety governs every aspect of how we do business.” Part of ADT's safety culture comprises emergency drills, safety talks and in-house training programs that equip employees with the HSE skills and knowledge needed in the port.
